Four Seasons Make A Year

Synopsis

Each season brings new surprises and discoveries. In the spring, leaves sprout, showers come, and it's time for planting. Bees buzz and roses bloom as summer arrives. The fall turns pumpkins orange and leaves red and gold, and the wind grows cold. In wintertime, snow twirls down, and the flames in the fireplace leap and glow. Next year, it will all happen again, but it will be a little different, too. Everything is always growing and changing on a farm. Beloved author Anne Rockwell takes young readers through the year. Megan Halsey's charming collage illustrations are the perfect complement to this delightful introduction to the wonders of the seasons.

Customer Reviews

This book follows a little girl who lives on a farm through the four seasons. It starts out in spring and the little girl plants a sunflower seed by her door. She tells us about Spring turning into summer. In summer on her farm her family has a roadside stand where they sell corn and squash. September rolls around and fall comes to the farm. Pumpkins are now the crop of choice at her family's stand. December comes soon and it's winter on the farm. She has saved the sunflower seeds from the flower she has planted and feeds them to the birds. I liked the illustrations in the book. They were bright and colorful and added lots to the text. This is a wonderful picture book for kids and a great resource for teachers when teaching about plant life and the four seasons.

This is a good book if you are wanting to teach your children about the seasons. It is easy read and easy to comprehend for preschoolers. It explains all 4 seasons. My son now knows all his seasons.

I purchased this book for my Grandson after his Mother told him there were five seasons. I hope it helps :-)

Anne Rockwell is a great author.
